Note: this disables your PC's screen refresh rate, so you'll need to use an external monitor and set its refresh rate to 60Hz. As an alternative, you can turn off the V-Sync settings in the graphics settings on your computer; this is an option that should be available from the system's control panel, depending on which version of Windows you are running. However, note that this may cause graphical glitches and artefacts when your computer is under load.
