Create your own Ultimate Team of the best players from around the world in FIFA Ultimate Team, and climb the FIFA career mode leaderboards to show off your skills. From Real Madrid to LA Galaxy, Manchester United to Manchester City and almost every world club, you'll find the players and collect the FUT packs in FIFA Ultimate Team. Collect your favorite Ultimate players and shape your team to make each match an epic journey to new heights. Stadiums & Club Crests - Create your own full custom stadium and create your own club crest FIFA Street - The latest game of skill and trickery It's a great game but imo needs to be atleast compared to the previous version. It feels so natural running and shooting that I don't feel the need to run to the goal for the boring part. This game will probably be cool when there are more teams and will be able to play much longer. FIFA 19 has been one of the best games i've played on this generation. Always fun to jump on every player you've created, your teammates, and opponents. It's something not many other games have been able to accomplish. As for the lack of sports games on the PSVita, it's no problem with the PS4. Games like NHL and Madden just work on every console. FIFA 19 has been one of the best games i've played on this generation. Always fun to jump on every player you've created, your teammates, and opponents. It's something not many other games have been able to accomplish. As for the lack of sports games on the PSVita, it's no problem with the PS4. Games like NHL and Madden just work on every console. You say that like its a reason the Vita has only ever had so few sports games. You're just being a little ignorant because 99% of the game's were released on either the PS4 or Xbox One. If they were on the Vita, they would have been huge games, just no one saw it coming. There is no way FIFA 20 can come close to an Assassins Creed game. It's just impossible. If you're looking for good soccer games, FIFA is fine and I think the 18 game is improved over the version before. It's a 6th generation gen (and I know how that sounds), so the graphics are good to some extent, as are the animations. The sound is pretty decent. Shooters are better than soccer

What's new:

- Accurate ball physics - Kick the ball around like a pro, freekick or long pass with unprecedented accuracy.
- Fireside Support - An overview of the match with all Stats, Crew, Player Performance, and Team Talks including player and team stats.
- Linebreaking play - Quick, fleet-footed attack. Intuitive dribbling, and precise passes for team-mates to exploit before moving the play on down the pitch.
- Fancy touches - With improved, accurate and responsive handling, sprinting, penalties and more, you'll feel more connected to the FIFA world. Get an edge by diving and feigning injuries for an easy shot to score an unlikely goal.
- Team Talks - Season mode packs a lot of dialogue and team talks into each campaign, including a unique observation booth & Gallery feature that allows you to relive every moment of the match. As a creator of a promo mode, you will now be able to add and create your own player which can be saved.
- Improvements to combat - 13 player types and 4 attacking tactics with a huge range of skills and items. Designed to be as fair as possible, to create more entertaining and unpredictable confrontations.
- New Players and Coaches
- Mightier defensive tools - Defensive use mechanics removed. Defensive penalties are cancelled. Press collective to defend from the front.
