The program is free and open to all Chilmark residents. Chilmark Public Schools Dean of Health Services Robert Vargas said that there are approximately 1.000 seventh- and eighth-graders in the district. "A large group of parents and families of these students asked for these free dental screenings," Vargas said. "We thought it would be appropriate to offer the children an opportunity to receive a dental checkup and they are also welcomed to bring a parent to receive the examination." Chiodo said all children will have teeth examined and then those who need a filling or fillings will be treated. He said the cost of the treatment will also be covered through Healthy Kids, the school district's health benefit plan.
