This spreadsheet shows the amount of time you spend on a daily basis on your computer. It generates a graph to visualize your daily activities for the selected period, the activity which includes the greatest amount of time is on top of the graph and the activities that spend the least amount of time are on the bottom. Daily Time Diary can help you to assess where your time is going every day and you can also see which activities you might like to prioritize as well as identify critical areas where you need to invest more time. Daily Time Diary allows you to record the time spent on your computer in different activities, you can assign a percentage of time to the main functions that you might want to focus on each day and it even gives you a graph that shows the distribution of these activities. As with every other Excel spreadsheet, you can enter the time spent on each activity manually or copy and paste the time entered. Based on the amount of time you spend on a daily basis, it also generates a number of "favorites" that show your most frequent activities, which help you easily determine what you spend most of your time on. The activities that you enter can be filed either in a month or week categories. Daily Time Diary contains options to calculate the total time spent on a daily basis or just the time spent in that specific activity. It automatically calculates total daily time spent if you select the "Total Time" option. Daily Time Diary also generates a graph that shows the amount of time spent on each activity. Once you select the file that contains the data of the time spent on each activity, Daily Time Diary automatically generates a graph that shows the distribution of time spent in each activity for the selected period. The data can be exported and saved as CSV file. Daily Time Diary current version: 4.1.6 Key features: • Automatic calculation of total daily time spent • Basic statistics (average, maximum, minimum time spent per activity) • The graph shows distribution of your daily activities • New graph style • Graph color representation • Export data as CSV files • Sort/filter activities • The "Total Time" function can be selected • The activities can be filed in a month/week categories • Can be saved as XLSX files • Lists and charts show up-to-date data • The activity per month is displayed in a separate sheet • Available on Excel for Mac 2011 Downloads: <http://>
