KEYMACRO is a free and open source (LGPL) tool for command line creation of macro keys. It is part of KDE, like KSnapshot, and is also available for GNOME and Xfce. It supports a number of operation types and is cross-platform. KEYMACRO main page: Learn How to Play and Sing 'Head Over Heels' Using Rhythmic Tap Once again, it's the week of free apps — this time on the App Store. Head over here to check out all the available apps for the week of May 9. There's also a giveaway going on, where you could win a $100 iTunes gift card! In the Rhythm category, we have Rhythm Tap. This game teaches you how to play and sing the song "Head Over Heels" using rhythmic tap. We all know the song, "Head Over Heels" is performed by the Backstreet Boys, and it's the dance song on their debut album Backstreet Boys. According to the Rhythmic Tap app description, you have "eight levels of difficulty to master", and the game gives you a score at the end of each level. You get 3 lives (pizza) when you earn a perfect score. The app costs $3.99 and includes gameplay video tutorials. Check out a sample of the video tutorials to the left, where you learn how to play the song "Head Over Heels" using Rhythmic Tap. It's free, but it only includes four lessons. If you want to check out the other tutorials, then it's $3.99. We already reviewed this rhythm game — you can read our review here. This game is for both iOS and Android, but it's priced at $3.99 on the App

Store, so it's available only for the iPhone. If you own an iPhone, you can learn how to play this song using Rhythmic Tap. It's free. FILED NOT FOR 2edc1e01e8

Among those, there is one called EcoSensor that claims to be the most eco-friendly and cost effective way of tracking the air quality levels in your environment. EcoSensor is the small device that can accurately measure the air pollution in your surroundings and inform you with sound and light alerts if the pollution level increases. It detects the levels of Carbon Monoxide (CO) and Nitrogen Dioxide (NO2) and can notify you via LED and a speaker. The device uses infrared sensors that automatically detects the pollution levels and notifies you via light and sound. It works in any environment, and also works even in the dark. It not only gives you the information about the air quality levels, but also gives you suggestions on what you can do to counter pollution. This isn't just a status update of the air quality, but also, it will also tell you what you can do to stop the pollution.
